ACTIVITY INFORMATION

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND STATEMENT OF NEED

Approximately 1 in 8 women in the United States will develop invasive breast cancer over the course of her lifetime. Uterine cancer is the most common gynecologic malignancy in women and ovarian ranks fifth in cancer deaths among women, accounting for more deaths than any other cancer of the female reproductive system.

Given that most primary care providers who care for women will be involved in the difficult decisions and experiences of a patient dealing with breast or gynecologic cancers, it is important that these clinicians are aware of current treatment and management options so that they can provide the support, education, and advocacy for patients diagnosed with these malignancies.

Expert faculty will provide conference participants with the latest updates in risk assessment, screening, and prevention for cancer and cardiovascular health in women. A unique feature of this year's conference is a keynote lecture by Dr. JoAnn Manson, lead author of the VITaminD and OmegaA-3 trial.

TARGET AUDIENCE

This educational activity will be designed to address the educational needs of: physicians, fellows/residents and allied healthcare professionals in the field of family medicine, internal medicine, obstetrics and gynecology, oncology, radiology and surgery.

ACCREDITATION STATEMENT

Cedars-Sinai Medical Center is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

CREDIT DESIGNATION STATEMENT

Cedars-Sinai Medical Center designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.
