

2022 Nursing Research Conference: Caring Science-Embracing Practice Transformation

November 2-3, 2022
Online

The Annual Nursing Research Conference is a forum for nursing staff and interprofessional teams to present cutting edge solutions to common clinical challenges. Embracing the spirit of caring science has engendered transformative approaches in practice to the many challenges of a complex system. Attending this conference will provide insights into current and new innovations from a human caring centered approach.

Registrants will earn credits from the California Board of Registered Nursing.
